pleading for her on
to me about you, she hasn't even mentioned

you to me. Perhaps she suggested that my car if she knew what I am writing to you.

Perhaps another and
more direct way to say what
lies between the lines

"He meets our approval,"

But there's no occasion for such a note, I guess. There's a tip however.

Don't marry a girl from the mission field, but one of those who is accustomed to contacted with the missionaries that will be your future home.

How are you
Willie, I'm sure?

Why don't the three of you go into the staring business
with all that?

Green pasture!

Decide you raised
it was green all over.

Changed here last night, and even becomes is good.

When Lucy friend
has changed a lot in
the last few months,
seems to have changed
suddenly from a girl
to a woman, and better looking too. He has several accomplishments which are very desirable in a wife? How does it get the idea that I'm trouble with her legs. (I guess she doesn't diet as much as she should.) But when it is pretty hard to do when one has been used to eating every thing and any thing.

Mother said Marie surely had a swell new home,
I guess she has told you about it.

Alice is planning on coming home ~~staying for Christmas~~.

We are having some quite cold weather but no snow as yet. The last time I talked to Conilla she talked like you would writing very much. Maybe you are finding another sweetie. We hope to hear from you again. I hope and don't mind. Sylvia.

Dear William:-

Rockville Md.
Nov. 24, 1929.

I am late about sending you money, but as long as it comes I guess you won't mind. It will soon be there beginning but I suppose your Thanksgiving dinner will be over and forgotten by the time you ~~receive this letter, that is~~ if you get one). I don't suppose they celebrate where you are at like they do here.
We were at Potomac
last Sunday. Mother is still having a lot of pleading for her or

to me about you, she has not even mentioned
wondered how many ears of the fence catch &
were listening to you.

"the sweetest approval,
that there's no occasion
guess. There's a tip however.
Don't mean a gift from the university fund, but one of
contended with the surrounding that would be your future home.

How are you
The evening?

(written on back
of envelope
letter)

Sheik go into the early business
with all that?

Green pasture!

Believe you arrived
at was green also and browned here last night, and was leaving in good.

Spain today found
the last few months,
suddenly from a gift to a reward, and a better looking too, the
from several observations which are very pleasant in a sense? How about get the idea that it is

(she did not send page two - said she'd send it if she found it)
