Nannau

The family of Nanneys originated near Dolgellau, Merionethshire, Wales. "Surnames were not generally adopted in Wales until Tudor times, when an English High Court Judge is said to have insisted on their use, since he was confused by the 'long series of ap's'. Some of the Welsh families assumed an existing nickname, such as Gwyn or Wyn, meaning 'white'. Others shortened 'ap Hugh' to 'Pugh' or 'ap Rhys' to 'Prys'. 'Vaughan' is derived from 'Fychan' meaning 'Younger' or 'Junior' used to distinguish a man from his father or uncle of the same name. Gruffydd ap Hywel ap Dafydd ap Meurig ap Hywel Sele, the forebear of the Nanneys, simply assumed the name of his house, and styled himself 'Gruffydd Nannau'".¹

The first known house on the site of Nannau was built in 1100 by Cadwgan ap (son of) Bleddyn Prince of Powys, from whom the Nannau (or Nanney) and Vaughan families descend.² Nannau was set high among the Merioneth mountains and was itself overlooked by the rocky mass known as Moel Offrwym, the Hill of Sacrifice, on which can be traced the remains of two early British camps. Cadwgan ap Bleddyn, the original owner, was killed in battle near Welshpool in 1112 and Nannau was later burnt by Owain Glyndwr in 1404. No less than five houses, all called Nannau, have been built on this same site. There appears to be a gap in the history of Nannau about the year 1662.³ Gruffydd, great-grandson of old Huw, had been intended for the 'Order of the Royal Oak' by Charles II, but Gruffydd Nanney died in 1655, perhaps in exile. "Certainly the family of Nannau (as before in 1404) 'stood stiffly for the King'".⁴ Did Nannau, then, share the fate of Caergai, Ynysymaengwyn, and many other Royalist houses in North Wales at the hands of Cromwell's troops?"⁵

A descendant of the Vaughan family said in 1964 that she believed that some of the male members of the Nanney family came to Virginia in 1660 as government aides to Sir William Berkeley, Governor of Virginia.⁶ No evidence to support this theory has been found. The exclusive right of inheritance belonging to the eldest son made it impossible for all the male members of the Nanney family in Wales to inherit property, so that certainly some of them sought their fortunes in other lands. The Nanneys who came to America are discussed in Exoursus II.

Nanneys in America

It is possible that the John Nanney, born about 1724 and discussed in the main part of this manuscript, is not the immigrant. He might have been a descendant of one of the following:

1. Robert Nanny(sic) was born in 1615¹ either in London, England or in Dôlgellau, Merionethshire, Wales. He was probably the grandson of Hugh and Anne (Vaughn) Nanney of Dôlgellau, Wales.² Their son who was born about 1593 went to London to live.³ Robert Nanny(sic) came to Boston, Massachusetts in the ship, Increase, in 1635 at the age of 22 years. He was sent over by Robert Cordell, a goldsmith of Lombard Street, London.⁴ From Jenness' abstracts of original documents relating to New Hampshire⁵ a list of the signers of the Dover combination in the year 1640, which combination was a part of the Hilton Patent granted in 1630, shows the name of Robert Nanny.⁶ He was a merchant, first at Dover and later in Boston. He married, before 1652, Catherine Wheelright. He had business dealings with the West Indies, Jamaica, and the Barbadoes, and made voyages to all these places. He called Richard Hutcheson of London "uncle".⁷ He died on August 27, 1663. His will mentioned his wife, his son, Samuel, his daughter, Mary, and her expected child. Samuel may have been dead by 1716 when Robert Nanny's widow died, for the administration of the estate fell to the son-in-law, Benjamin Dyer, there being no surviving heirs.⁸

The issue of Samuel, son of Catherine and Robert Nanny, are not known by the compiler of this manuscript.

It seems likely that David Nanny(sic) who was born in Orange county, Long Island, New York in August, 1757¹⁰ was related to the above family. David Nanny was married more than once. He married Anna Wortenby on December 31, 1799 and he died on May 1, 1835.¹¹ He served in the Revolutionary War from Warwick, New York.

II. Rees Nanna(sic) was an early member of the Abington Monthly Meeting Society of Friends in Pennsylvania. He was married to Elizabeth Coulston on February 14, 1714 under the care of that meeting at Plymouth.¹³ On June 27, 1723 he obtained a certificate of removal from Abington to Gwynedd Monthly Meeting. He died intestate in 1747 and in April 1748 three of his children, Ann, Elizabeth, and Rees Nanna, all under 21 years of age, petitioned the Orphans Court in Philadelphia to name guardians for them. Letters of administration of the estate of Rees Nanna were granted to his sons, Abraham and Jacob Nanna, on October 3, 1747 at Philadelphia. The issue of Rees Nanna were:

4. Isaac, was "disowned" by the Gwynedd Monthly Meeting on June 30, 1752
5. Jacob, died unmarried. His will was probated in Philadelphia, October 28, 1752.
6. Abraham, his will was probated March 6, 1809,
Norristown, Pennsylvania.

9. Rees. He was "disowned" by the Gwynedd Monthly Meeting on July 30, 1771.

10. Mary, born about 1728. She married Daniel Roberts on April 10, 1746.

William Nanna, third child of Rees Nanna, above, called himself "yeoman" in his will written in 1798. He named in his will, which was probated in 1805, his wife, Sarah, and his nephew, William Nanna.

Abraham, sixth child of Rees Nanna, above, named in his will his son, Rees, and daughters, Susanna, Elizabeth and Hannah.

Benjamin Nanna's name appeared on a military Roll in Pennsylvania for the years 1785 and 1786.¹⁴ It is likely that he was a descendant of the above Rees Nanna.

Some notes from the records of the Landed Gentry of England relating to the origin and early history of the name of

NANNEY

The name seems to have originated in the 13th Century from the First Lord of Nannau in Merionethshire Wales. Cadwgan for some time associated in sovereignty of Powys with his elder brother Merideth dignified by Cambden as the renowned Brittain. His first wife was Gwenllian, daughter of Griffith King of North Wales. Howell Nanney, Esq. 10th in descent from Cadwgan Lord of Nannau was father of Richard Nanney ancestor of the Cefnddwr Nanneys.

William Nanney of Maes ancestor of John Nanney died in 1691. A William Nanney who was an attendant upon Henry VII was an ancestor of Oliver Cromwell. Edward Nanney whose son Lewis Nanney, Esq. High Sheriff of Merioneth, 1634 married a daughter of John Hughes, Esq. A daughter of Rev. Richard Nanney, vicar of Clynog 1723 married Rev. Richard Ellis Vicar of Clynog 1765. David Ellis Esq, of Bodysan Gwynfryn Attorney General of North Wales assumed the name of Nanney so as to inherit the estate Cefnddwr of his maternal Uncle Nanney. This explains the compound name Ellis-Nanney. Owen Johnes Ellis-Nanney, Esq, D. L. Gwynfryn Wales a member of parliament about the middle of the 18th Century who was a Baron married eldest daughter Mary and heiress of Hugh Jones, Esq. of Hengwrtucha of Merioneth. Sir Hugh John Ellis-Nanney, son of above born 1845 still alive in 1920, baroneted in 1898 and 1875 married the Hon. Elizabeth Octavia, youngest daughter of Robert Dillon 3rd, Lord Clonbrock County, Galway, Ireland. Mrs. Hon Elizabeth Octavia Ellis-Nanney or Lady Ellis daughter of a peer is dead. Mary Elizabeth only child of the above married a clergyman. Sir Hugh is last male of that branch of the Nanney family.

Ellis of Bodysan from who the present Sir Hugh Ellis-Nanney traces his maternal descent to Hwfaap Cynddelw Lord of Llys of Liffan in Angelsey Wales, who was steward and bore the crown of the Sovereign and enjoyed the hereditary right to put the crown on the Monarch's head after being anointed.

Griffith Nanney, Esq. was ancestor of the Nanneys of Nannau whose last male representative was Hugh, whose daughter in 1735 married Robert Vaughan. The records of London and Bost show that Robert Nanney or Nanny was sent by Robert Cordell a goldsmith of London to the United States in 1635.

He first located in New Hampshire but afterwards located in Boston in 1652 and in 1654 married Catherine the daughter of Rev. John Wheelwright a well known preacher. He engaged in merchandise and amassed some property which a recorded will located and describes. He died in 1663 leaving two children, Samuel and Mary and one anticipated.

N

NANNEY (NANNAU) family, of Nannau, Mer.

Nannau, which is in Llanfachreth parish, Mer., stands 700 feet above the level of the sea, and has been for centuries the home of one of the most powerful families in the county. The 'sprouting root,' according to the bards, was Ynyr Hen, who flourished 1200-50; his son, Ynyr Fychan, took the credit of helping to capture the rebel Madog ap Llywelyn (q.v.) in 1295 and of handing him over to the victors; his son Meurig Fychan has a sepulchral effigy in Dolgelley church, with a lion carved on his shield, but it is open to grave doubt whether he was one of the garrison of Bere castle soon after the death of Llywelyn the Last. There is no cogent proof to connect Anian II, bishop of S. Asaph from 1268 to 1293 (q.v.) with this family, though a Peniarth manuscript does refer to him as the 'black friar of Nannau'; he had a brother also, and executor of his will, who signs as 'Adam de Nanneu.' Nor is there sufficient foundation for the story of Hywel Sele's treachery towards Owain Glyn Dŵr in 1402—he was grandson to Meurig Fychan—so little indeed that Sir John E. Lloyd, the author of the standard work on the prince, never refers to Hywel at all. But certainly, the poet Llywelyn Goch ap Meurig Hen (c. 1370-1400) (q.v.), was cousin to Meurig Fychan, author of the famous elegy to Lleucu Llwyd. Gruffydd Llwyd sang the praises of two sons of Meurig Fychan (end of the 14th cent.); Guto'r Glyn likewise composed an elegy to Meurig Fychan II (period of Henry VI), and a cywydd to thank his son David for the gift of a horse; the polished Wiliam Llŷn (q.v.) adds a panegyric to Gruffydd Nannau (days of Henry VIII).

Between the days of Hywel Sele and the age of Elizabeth the Nanneys thrust their roots deep in the commote of Tal-y-bont through the buying up of lands in the townships of Brithdir and Dyffryndan, Cefnyrywen and Dolgleder, Garthgynfor, and Garthmaclan. The stock sent out many branches: a brother of Hywel Sele founded the family of Caerynwch; the Cefndeuddwr branch grew out in the middle of the 16th cent., that of Maes Pandy at the end of that century; the Dolau-gwyn relationships were made secure by a series of complicated marriages. The head of the house in the years 1580-1620 was HUW NANNAU HEN, a very powerful personality, of whom the bards outdid each other in extravagant eulogies, no fewer than eleven of them bewailing his death in 1623. His career was not without some grave crises: he was on very bad terms with the Llwyn family, with the Lloyds of Rhiwaedog, with the Owens of Hengwrt, and these ill-wishers were joined by his own blood-relations of Cefndeuddwr (his great sin, it was said, was the pushing forward of his son Griffith, in 1593, as Member of Parliament for Merioneth against John Lewis Owen of Llwyn). His enemies concentrated on the charge that Huw Nannau had cut down thousands of trees at Penrhos between Mawddach and Afon-wen, and had made a great fortune out of them; the Exchequer gave a verdict of guilty against him, levying a fine of £1,500; Nannau went to prison rather than pay; after many petitions to the supreme authorities, he was set free, but the fine was not brought down lower than £800 [but see the item added to the bibliographical note].

The story of Nannau is somewhat uneventful until the days of colonel HUGH NANNEY, Member of Parliament for Merioneth (1695-1701) and his termagant wife Catherine, one of the daughters of Cors-y-gedol (she d. in 1733). He was the last Nanney to hold the estate, for his heiress Janet m. Robert Vaughan of Hengwrt in 1719, great-grandson to the antiquary (q.v.; the antiquary himself had m. a granddaughter of Huw Nannau Hen). Their son HUGH VAUGHAN almost made a total shipwreck of his fortunes by his ill-regulated life and his utter incapacity for estate management, but through the pluck and pertinacity of his lawyer John Lloyd and the prescience of the very intelligent lady Elizabeth Baker (q.v.), who supervised the household at Nannau, things looked a little more hopeful at Vaughan's death in 1783, leaving his brother ROBERT HOWELL VAUGHAN (1723-92), created a baronet in 1791, to carry on the long litigation till 1788, when the Chancery masters delivered a final and very favourable verdict. It is true that R. H. Vaughan was made a baronet in 1791, but much more important for the fortunes of the family was his marriage in 1765 with Ann Williams, heiress of the Ystumcolwyn lands by Meifod, she in turn being grand-daughter to the Meriel Williams who had m. the squire of Meillionydd in Llŷn: the upshot of all this was that Sir Robert Howell Vaughan, and his son Sir ROBERT WILLIAMES VAUGHAN (1768-1843) were the quadruple possessors of Nannau, Hengwrt, Ystumcolwyn, and Meillionydd. What wonder that the second Sir Robert reared a new mansion at Nannau, became a Member of Parliament for Merioneth in 1792, and was re-elected thirteen times, remaining a member till 1836? Thanks were paid to him in the form of an illustrated address, signed by 122 names, in July, 1836; money was collected in 1841 to found the 'Vaughan Scholarship' as a tribute to the length of his public service; and when he d. in 1843 Meurig Idris composed a long ode of eulogy (12 pages). His brother EDWARD VAUGHAN (d. 1807) had already succeeded by will to the Rûg estate (1780); these Rûg lands were in the possession of the Vaughans of Nannau till the death of the third Sir ROBERT VAUGHAN (1803-59), when the second son of lord Newborough became proprietor. According to Sir Robert's will—he d. without children—Hengwrt went to his wife's sisters (she was a Lloyd of Rhagad) and Nannau to one of the sons of the first lord Mostyn, with the clear proviso that these were only interim arrangements for one life, that the two estates were eventually to come into the hands of JOHN VAUGHAN (b. 1829), a member of the Dolmelynlyn branch of the Hengwrt family. This happened in 1874; and Vaughan was very soon faced with the problem of the new railway to Bala, the old problem of fishing in the river Mawddach, and the question of the proper royalties to charge upon adventurers for gold upon his lands. In politics he was a thoroughbred Conservative, and was an unsuccessful candidate against T. E. Ellis (q.v.) in the General Election of 1886. He d. on 29 June 1900 (Nannau MS. 835), not in 1898 as recorded in the Pedigrees of J. E. Griffith (200).

NANNEY, RICHARD (1691-1767), Evangelical cleric. He was b. in 1691, one of the Cefnduaddwr family by Trawsfynydd, a branch of the ancient house of Nannau (q.v.). He matriculated from Jesus College, Oxford, in 1710, graduated B.A. in 1714, M.A. in 1719; he was made vicar of Clynnog in 1718, and rector of Llanaelhaearn in 1725; Foster adds that he was also canon of Bangor. He was deeply endowed with a fine liberality of spirit, which is not at all surprising when one remembers that his mother was daughter to Richard Edwards of Nanhoron (q.v.), prominent as a Puritan squire in Restoration times, that his sister Catherine was m. to Dr. Knight of Caernarvon, another family with strong nonconformist contacts, and that his wife was one of the Wynns of Wern by Penmorfa, very open-minded in their politics. Nanney became one of the foremost supporters of the circulating schools of Griffith Jones (at Clynnog the school was often held in the parish church, at other times in distant houses on the borders); many of his letters occur in Welsh Piety, all testifying to the value of education and some containing good suggestions regarding the lessons to be given, and some loud in their praises of the old schoolmaster Thomas Gough (as Gough had at one time been the teacher of Robert Jones of Rhos-lan (q.v.), it is natural enough to find the latter's eloquent tribute to Nanney in Drych yr Amseroedd). He drank pretty deeply of the spirit of the Methodist Revival—though he is not included among the Methodist clergymen like Griffiths of Nevern and Jones of Llan-gan—and accounts are given of crowds of people listening to him preach at Clynnog, many coming from adjoining parishes; and a vivid contrast is drawn between the apathy of his early years and the fruitful piety of the days of awakening. He held the lands of Elernion by Llanaelhaearn, a small estate that belonged to his wife's family; but things of this world mattered little to him; according to Robert Jones, he never knew any horse but the one he rode on. His son, also RICHARD NANNEY, was in holy orders (he d. in 1812), very different from his father in many respects, but quite as Puritan in his outlook on the sanctity of the Sabbath, as witness a sharp letter of his (21 Jan. 1799) to one of the Caernarvon attorneys. CATHERINE NANNEY, daughter of Richard Nanney the elder, m. Richard Ellis of Bodychen, another clergyman, and successor to his father-in-law as vicar of Clynnog; they were the parents of David Ellis Nanney (q.v.), the learned lawyer, ancestor to Sir HUGH J. ELLIS NANNEY of Gwynfryn by Llanystumdwy.

Dear Sam:

Received your letter and the information on the Nanny/Nanney family and what a wonderful surprise. It has taken me several days to go through it and compare it to what I already have. There is a chance that we are cousins somewhere down the line, now how about that!

My maiden name was Adams, I was born in Dallas County, Missouri and grew up in Springfield, Greene County, Missouri. My great-great grandmother was Rebecca J. Nanny and I have been trying for years to find out who her parents were. She was born in 1809 in Virginia and was in Henry County, Tennessee on the 1850 census married to Phillip Adams. I have no date or place of marriage for them. Their children were Francis M. Adams born 24 Jan 1832 in Montgomery Co., TN (per Goodspeed for Dallas Co., Mo), Martin Van Buren Adams, my great grandfather, born 15 June 1838, Henry Co., TN. and Jasper N. (Newton?) Adams born 1843, Henry Co., TN., daughter Julia D. was born in Henry Co., TN also. There is a connection between the Nanny families in Henry Co., TN. and the Nanney family in Montgomery Co., TN. Able Nanny was in Montgomery TN. very early and died there. I know Jordon was in Tennessee very early and both Able and Jordon had a daughter born in the time period my gg-grandmother was born so I feel sure either Jordon or Able was her father.

Phillip and Rebecca moved to Missouri and he died there in 1859, she returned to Henry Co., Tn until after the civil war and then returned to Missouri and stayed there until her death in 1889. Son Jasper did not go back to Missouri, he stayed in Tennessee and died there.

I would love to have a copy of the floppy disk you mentioned. My computer program is compatable with the LDS programs. I have gone to the library in Salt Lake many times and also used the LDS Library (a large one) in Los Angeles for many years, we used to live in Southern California and I would go to the library several times a week. I also did volunteer work at the Los Angeles Library for five years. Do you have an address for Lynn Fussell and if I contacted him do you suppose I could get a copy of his book? I would love to see what he has done. I contacted a woman in Tennessee and a man in Virginia who supposedly has a great deal of information and got no-where.

I am enclosing a copy of the first John Nanny's will, you may have a copy already but thought just in case you don't I would send it. I have some thoughts about his children; first I have the idea that Uriah was the oldest son and my reasoning for that is this, John Nanny was from Wales and in Wales the first son always inherited the fathers entire estate and John Nanny followed the Welsh tradition leaving everything to Uriah. Second, I think John Jr. was the third son, it was the custom to name the third son after the father. Thomas could have been the oldest son but he died about 1781 and thus Uriah who might have been the second son was put into place as the first son after Thomas's death. Thomas served in the army and may have died from wounds, I found the following: "Loyalist in The Southern Campaign, Vol II, Page 379, "Muster Roll of Capt. James Kerr's Company Queen's Rangers, J. Graves Simcoe, Esq., Lieut Col. Commandant, 25 June to 24 August 1780." "Private Thomas nanney, enlisted 24 Aug." "Attest: James Kerr, Captain."

I also found "Virginia Wills and Administrations 1632-1800, 975.5 - T635 - Cop.2, "Nanny, Thos 1781 Inventory Brunswick Co." Apparently Thomas died in 1780-1781.

In the book "Early Growth of Allen County," page 74, I found the following: "Abner Nanny received a land grant south of the Green River on Trammel Creek on September 4, 1807. A welshman whose grandfather had left the house of Nannau Dolgelly, Merionethshire, Wales, and come to the Isle of Wight County, Virginia in 1745, Abner had brought his father Uriah Nanny from Rutherford County, North Carolina, to settle in this new fertile land of Kentucky" On page 35 of this book it mentioned that Uriah was one of the oldest men in the county and that he was the father of Abner.

Jim and I traveled to Wales in 1984 and visited Nannau, it is a fanstatic place and I am planning a trip back to Wales. almost all my family lines go back to Wales and England, one goes to Germany. There was so much genealogy there and I was kinda new into genealogy so it was hard for me to copy everything. The Welsh people are wary of Americans, the desk lady at the hotel had a ball being rude to me and I was thinking of smacking her one but my good ole American manners told me not to and in the end she couldn't do enough for me. I sent pictures to a man in Virginia who supposedly had a lot of of information on the Nanny family, he kept my pictures and sent me very little info. I would be happy to have copies of these pictures made for you if you want them, I know that several Nanny family members have visited Nannau so you may have seen the Nanny House and the town of Dolgelly. Let me know if you want copies and I will have them made.

I very much enjoyed the pictures you sent, I have no pictures of my Rebecca J. but do have a picture of Mary Nanney who married David Crocket Beasley in Stuart County, Tennessee about 1835. I think Mary is a sister to Rebecca or perhaps a cousin. If you have any info on this Mary Nanny I would appreciate your sharing and if you want a copy of Mary's picture I would be happy to have a copy made for you. At this point I just don't know where Mary fits in. I have so many loose ends to tie up I keep hoping someone smarter than me will just drop a solution to the loose ends in my hands. By the way, I do have Mary Nanney Beasley's genealogy and a picture of one of her sons, if you are interested in the genealogy or pictures I will be happy to share what I have, the genealogy is on the Beasley family. One of the Beasley's married into another of my family lines. Sometimes I think everyone in the United States are related through these early marriages and it gets so confusing, not sure I will live long enough to sort it all out.

Sam, if you would like copies of my family group sheets I could have them xeroxed for you, I'm sure you have much more that I do but there could be some information that would be useful to you. What in particular are you interested in? Now about you Stallcup family, I seem to recall people by that name in Dallas Co., MO and James (Jim) is sure there was people by that name in Marionville, Missouri, Greene County. I had about 28 genealogy books on Greene Co., published by the genealogy group there, but donated them to the Library in Seattle. It's a public library and they have a large section on genealogy, I was through with the books and knew I would never use them again so Jim and I packed them up and took them to the library. They had very little on Missouri and were very happy to receive the books, I had a number of books on Maine that I included also. If I can't use them some^{one} else can so they belong in a library for all to use. It would have been easy to check these books for names. Have no idea when I will go into the city (Seattle) but if I get into the library I will check on the family names you mentioned, there could be some info in these books.

I am in the process of putting my genealogy into the computer, haven't had the computer to long and I'm a bit scared to start work on it. It will simplify things for me when it is in the computer and for safety reasons I would like to have it all on disk, even make a disk for each of our daughters. I'm almost drowning in paper. I work a little each day and get a little braver each time, should have jumped on that computer bandwagon when they first came out that would have made it so much easier for me. I think the program I have is a good one and will probably serve me well.

I am enclosing some information on Oregon County Missouri Cemeteries. Some of my people went to Oregon County and I purchased the cemetery book looking for them. Since you have been to Oregon Co. to visit the old family place you may have all this information but thought I would send it just in case you don't have it.

Would love to attend the Nanney Reunion in Oklahoma but time just will not permit. Do you attend this reunion every year? Tell them there is a stray wondering around the Pacific Northwest looking for her gg-grandmother's parents and any TLC would be appreciated. My mother's family lived in Woodward, Oklahoma for a very long time, they moved there from Pampa Texas. I am so familiar with Oklahoma and have lots of distant relatives living in Texas and Oklahoma.

Again I think you for all the information and I hope to hear from you soon, I am so eager to learn more about the book that Mr. Fussell has, please help me obtain a copy, it may hold the key for me.

I wish you and Ruth an abundance of health and God's choice blessings.

Sincerely,

Mary Jo Appling

Statement of Albert Mamm

I am 36 yrs old reside in Marshall County Kentucky, and by occupation a Farmer. I am a man of family, which consists of wife and one child.

I enlisted in Confederate service in Oct 1861 in Co. D 7th Regt Kentucky Inf'y. I enlisted cheerfully and voluntarily because I thought it my duty for the space of 12 months. My term expired in Oct 62 and I made application for a discharge, but was told by my Capt that I could not obtain it. I was in the Hospital 3 months before my term of enlistment expired and at the expiration of my term of service was on my way home when taken Prisoner. This Hospital was ~~situated~~ ^{located} at Grenada Miss. I surrendered voluntarily to the Federals, desired to take the oath of allegiance and return home. The particular reason I had for Enlisting was opposition to the Federal Gov't whose policy I then understood was Emancipation of the ^{of colored property} slave and confiscation.

I am willing to enlist in ~~Confederate~~ Federal service and use my best endeavors to crush the rebellion. I suppose that I am considered and reported a deserter of the confederate ^{over} army. I have never been discharged from Confed service but was held under the recent conscript act as a confed soldier on account of my health I would prefer taking the oath of allegiance to service in the Federal Army

I subscribed and sworn to before me this 21st day May 1863 } Allent his X Nanny

I thought you might find this interesting. In...

I am making copies to all listed - July 27, 2000 is a copy of the inventory for William Nanney when he died. According to family records he died 12 March 1798 but that was the date of the inventory, he probably died a year or less before 1798. I had this copy made on a color xerox, and enlarged hoping the info on the bottom would be clearer but that didn't help much.

Dear John;

It looks like I might finally get around to answering your letter. I hope you got with Lynn Fussell and was able to get info on the Nanny (ey) history and possibly helped convince Lynn to publish a second copy of his book on the Nanney history. He has much updating. I realize it is a big undertaking but since he has the first one, maybe it would be a help.

I am sending you a copy of a few bits of info that I have and I have copied about 35 pages of Lynn's book and will send you a copy of that if you haven't come up with it otherwise. It covers down to William A. being the son of John Nanny.

Some notes from the Marshall County, KY tax records:

On the subject of the book by Lynn--The largest Library (on Genealogy) there in the St. Louis area probably has his book on the shelf.

You don't owe me anything--Too many people have helped me in my Family research for me to ever get even!!

I hope to get on the internet soon--I have all the equipment, it's just a matter of running a Phone line across a couple of rooms-or moving my computer.....

I suppose that's about enough for this time. Maybe we can catch up on more of family history--you never get to the end of it. Let me know if I can be of further help.

Sincerely,

Sam Jobe

Coal County History, Coal County Library

Much of this collection of NANNEY family history is taken from a book written by Lynn Emmitt Fussell. An updated version may be available later--I'll keep in touch and spread the word.

JOHN NANNY, Sr., born about 1719 in Virginia. He died in 1785 in Virginia, buried in Brunswick County, Virginia. He married FRANCES HOWARD in Virginia, born about 1722, died before 1786.

Children:	Thomas	1738 Va-1789 Va.
	John, Jr.	1741 Va-1804 Va.
	William E.	1742 Va-1798 Ky.
	Elizabeth	1746 Va-
	Frances	1748 Va-
	Silvanus (f)	1750 Va-
	Amos	1752 Va-1802 Va.
	Uriah Howard (ensign)	1756 Va-1831 Ky.
	(Revolutionary War Veteran)

JOHN NANNY, Jr., born about 1741, Virginia, died August, 1804, Brunswick County, Virginia. John, Jr. married Ellis Cator about 1762 in Brunswick County, Va. She was born about 1745 in Virginia.

Children:	Drury	1763 Va-
	Sarah (Sally)	1765 Va-1846
	Rebecca	1767 Va-1845 S.C.
	Shadrack	1769 Va-1836 N.C.
	Nicholas	1771 Va-1804 N.C.
	Molly	1773 Va-
	Rhodah (Rody)	1775 Va-
	Jordan	1775 Va-1845 Ky.

JORDAN NANNY, born 1775 in Brunswick County, Virginia, died October 7, 1845 in Graves County, Kentucky. Jordan married Oney Gregory December 3, 1800 in Brunswick County, Va. Oney was born about 1782 in Brunswick County, Va. She died November 2, 1858 in Graves County, Ky. Sometime between 1800-1802, Jordan and Oney moved to Rutherford County, N.C. where three of their children were born. In 1820 they were in Hardin County, Tenn. and in 1830, Carroll County, Tennessee. while in Tenn., three more of their children were born. Jordan was in Graves County, Ky. by 1831 since he was mentioned in the minutes of Trace Creek Baptist Church on October 1, 1831. He settled a quarter section of land in the Panther Creek area. They lived there the remainder of their lives. (There may be other children that died young).

Children:	Jane	1802 N.C.-1856 Ky.
	John	1804 N.C.-1858 Ky.
	Amos A.	1807 N.C.-
	Martha	1813 Tn.-after 1880 Ky.
	James Washington	1820 Tn-1858 Ky.
	George Alfred (Tobe)	1822 Tn-1870 Ky.

JOHN NANNY, born 1804 in Rutherford County, N.C., died 1859 in Marshall County, Kentucky. He married (1) ? (name unknown). John had five children by his first wife, three of which are identified.

Children:	William Anthony	1824 Tn. ~ 1863
	Albert	1830 Tn.-1900 Ky.
	John	1838 Ky-

JOHN NANNY married (2) Lucy Jane Fulcher, born 1822 in Virginia. She was the daughter of Philip Fulcher. Several members of the Fulcher family moved to Kentucky about the time the Nanny families did. John's brother, George Alfred (Tobe) married Rachall L. Fulcher--sister to Lucy Jane.

In the Civil War, John Nanny, William A. Nanny, Albert Nanny, A.P. Job and probably other family members signed up in the 7th or 9th Kentucky Mounted Infantry late in 1861. Philip Nanny was in the Militia--but I don't have any details. A.P. Job was captured at Vicksburg, July, 1863. Albert Nanny was captured in Tenn. and sent to prison in St. Louis, Mo. William A. Nanny and William A. Fulcher put up a $1000.00 bond to get him released. (William A Fulcher was Lucy Jane's brother).

~~XX~~

Children:	Philip H.	1843 Ky.- About 1907-Okla.
	George A. B.	1848 Ky.
	Emily	1850 Ky-1851 Ky.
	J.A. (Female)	1851 Ky---
	T.L. (male)	1852 Ky-1853 Ky
	Safrona Alice	1855 Ky-1916 Okla.

After John Nanny died, his second wife, Lucy Jane Fulcher married A.P. Job (1860). About this time, the census takers started spelling the name Nanney. A.P. Job and Lucy Jane possibly had a son-1861/62 and a son John Buford, born after his father was killed/died in 1865. John Buford Jobe (e added 1869 census takers) married Nancy Jane Vandergriff--these were my grand-parents.

PHILIP NANNY married Sarah Robards, born 1845 in Kentucky.

Children:	George A.	1874 Ky-
	Edward Howard	1879 Ky-
	John Willis	1881 Mo.?
	Albert Pinkney	1885 Mo-
	Sarah
	others???

It seems that Edward Howard later became known as Eugene Howard. Sarah died at about 7 years of age and was buried at Little Town, Okla. I know there are many corrections, additions and so on---but at least the present generations can fill all this in. The part I tried to do was really the early history. If you can give me more information--please do so. There is much more than I can pass along here, but at least this is a start.
