

by his last marriage, namely: Wiley, who lives in New York state; and Perry who is deceased.

William D. Coffin attended the schools in his district and was taught farming by his father, and following the latter's death, he conducted the homestead until his enlistment for service during the Civil War, on August 7, 1862, in Company D, Seventy-third Illinois Volunteer Infantry, and was sent to Camp Butler, where the regiment was assigned to the Twentieth Army Corps, in Gen. Phil Sheridan's division. At the battle of Missionary Ridge, Mr. Coffin was wounded by a gunshot through the left arm, having already a slight wound in the right hip received at the battle of Chickamauga. After recovering from his wounds at home, having been given a furlough, Mr. Coffin rejoined his regiment in April, 1864, and was sent on the Atlanta campaign, being in the Fourth Army Corps, under General Thomas. After participating in the battle of Franklin the command went to Nashville, where it was re-enforced and then drove General Hood from Tennessee. During the winter the command was in camp at Huntsville, Ala., but on March 1, 1865, moved on Greenville, and there remained until after the death of President Lincoln. He was mustered out June 12, 1865, at Nashville, Tenn., and returned to Camp Butler, where he was discharged.

Mr. Coffin then went to Indiana and resumed farming, remaining until October 1, of that year, when he returned to Bement Township, bought a farm, and since then has made Piatt County his place of residence. He is a large dealer and trader in real estate, and in 1896 moved to Bement to operate upon a broader scale. His residence is a very fine one, and he owns property in eastern Indiana and a large tract in Bement Township, in all something like 700 acres.

On September 13, 1865, Mr. Coffin was married to Mary Holtz, born in Vermilion County, Ind., a daughter of John and Lavina (Whipple) Holtz, natives of New England states. Mr. and Mrs. Coffin became the parents of the following children: Eva, who is Mrs. Albert Harshbarger, of Danville, Ill.; Harry and Homer, twins, the former living at Bement, the latter deceased; Edward, who is deceased; William, who died in infancy; Emma, who is deceased; and Bessie and Fred who are both at home. Mr. Coffin is a Methodist, and active in promoting church work. He served as township supervisor for two terms, assessor for one term, was road commissioner and held other offices, being elected on the Republican ticket. The local Grand Army of the Republic Post holds his membership.

COLE, Ben, whose experiences have been somewhat varied, is one of the successful farmers of Goose Creek Township. He was born in Bement Township, Piatt County, Ill., March 7, 1872, a son of Sam and Catherine (McGuire) Cole, natives of Pike County, Ill., and Ireland. The grandparents were Elijah and Sarah Cole, natives of Kentucky and Ohio, and James McGuire, and all were early settlers of Illinois. The parents after marriage located on a farm in Bement Township, where the mother died in 1886. The father survives and lives with his children.

Ben Cole attended the public schools of Piatt County until he was fifteen years old when he began working among the neighboring farmers by the month. In 1893 he went on a farm in Henry County, Ill., but five years later returned to Piatt County, and for five years more continued his agricultural work in Monticello Township. Being appointed superintendent of the poor farm of Piatt County, he served faithfully as such until the spring of 1913, when he moved to a farm of 255 acres of land in Goose Creek Township, 160 acres of which are under cultivation, and the balance in pasture. Here he carries on general farming and stock raising, and has been very successful in his work.

In January, 1893, Mr. Cole was married to Maud Weaver, born in Monticello Township. Their children were as follows: Florence, who is a nurse residing at Rochester, Minn.; and Ralph and Nellie, who live at home. Mrs. Cole died in October, 1909. On October 21, 1911, Mr. Cole was married a second time and has by that union the following children: Pauline, Kenneth and Marian. In politics Mr. Cole is a Democrat. Fraternally he belongs to the Modern Woodmen of America at Monticello. An industrious worker, he has made his way in the world, and has every right to feel proud of the progress he has made.

COLEMAN, John W., M. D., for some years in active practice at Monticello, is now deceased. He was born in Montgomery County, Ohio, January 8, 1831, and was graduated from Miami College, Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1856, with the degree of M. D., following which he practiced medicine in McLean County, Ill. In 1860 he moved to Monticello, but with the outbreak of the Civil War he offered his services to his country, and was assistant surgeon in the Forty-first Illinois Volunteer Infantry. On June 8, 1858, Dr. Coleman was married and he and his wife had several children, but only one, Lida, reached maturity. It was Dr. Coleman who planted the beautiful evergreens in the Monticello Cemetery, which stand to his memory, although all that is mortal of him lies in this same cemetery.

COLLINS, Abraham, came to Goose Creek Township in 1838, and was engaged there in farming for many years, but is now deceased. He was married in Indiana to Eliza Biddle and their children were as follows: William, Abraham, John, Surrilda, Simeon, Mary Jane, James, Mrs. Wilson Williams and Joseph.

CONAWAY, Amos, was born in Bourbon County, Ky., and came to Piatt County in 1852. He was married to Elizabeth Boyd and they had nine children, namely: Jane C., Byron, ander) Ward, natives of Kentucky. In addition to owning and operating a farm, the father was a physician and was engaged in an active practice for many years.

After completing his education in the common schools of his native place, William B. Ward engaged in farming, and was so engaged in Huntington and Monroe counties, both in Indiana. In 1874 he came to Illinois, locating in Bement Township, where he continued farming. He was also connected with a station of the Wabash Railroad for fifteen years, and at the time of his demise was in a grocery store with his sons, being a business man of ability. His death occurred September 13, 1910, since which date Mrs. Ward has resided in the city of Bement in a beautiful home her husband erected.

On December 24, 1863, William B. Ward was married to Sarah A. Morrow, born in Jefferson County, Ohio, a daughter of William and Ann (Taylor) Morrow, natives of Ireland and Virginia. Mr. Morrow was a farmer of Ohio and Indiana, and in 1868 moved to Bement, Ill. He died in 1876, and Mrs. Morrow survived him until February, 1881. Mr. and Mrs. Ward became the parents of the following children: Charles E., who resides at Decatur, Ill., married Naomi Deitz and they have two sons, Joseph Lynn and William Deitz; Ettie May, who died at the age of sixteen years; and Austin Seward, who conducts a general store at Bement, married Nettie Ball, they had one son, Raymond Lynn, and she died November 22, 1915. Mr. Ward was a member of the Christian Church, but Mrs. Ward belongs to the Presbyterian Church. In politics Mr. Ward was a Republican and took a deep interest in party matters. Fraternally he belonged to the Modern Woodmen of America and the Order of Ben Hur. A man of sound principles and tireless energy, he kept himself occupied as long as he lived, and always upheld what he believed to be right, so set an excellent example to those about him.

WARNER, Jesse W., one of the substantial retired farmers of Monticello, whose agricultural operations in former years were conducted upon an extensive scale, was one of the leading men of Piatt County. He was born in Ross County, Ohio, December 16, 1827, and died at his home in Monticello, Ill., October 18, 1916. He was a son of George and Delilah (Oler) Warner, natives of Pennsylvania. When he was nineteen years old, the father went to Ross County, Ohio, where he was married, and resided there until the spring of 1832, at which time he moved to Pickaway County, Ohio. There his death occurred about 1844. The mother lived with her sons until her death in 1876.

In 1852 they came to Monticello and Jesse W. Warner worked for farmers during the summer months. Later he began feeding and shipping cattle, hogs and sheep, so continuing until December 11, 1856, when he was seriously injured. He was in the caboose of a train running down grade near Lockport, N. Y., while taking care of a shipment of hogs from Iowa to New York City. The train became uncoupled and he was thrown out and his right arm so injured as to necessitate its amputation at the shoulder. After his recovery, he returned home and conducted a ditching machine during the summer seasons for three years, when, in conjunction with A. Fisher, he began feeding cattle. This partnership was dissolved in 1864, and Mr. Warner bought a farm of 297½ acres in Goose Creek Township, and began farming. From time to time he added to his holdings until he owned 507 acres of land and also owned 167 acres more which he gave to his daughter. In 1909 he retired to Monticello, although he retained his farming property.

In 1873 Mr. Warner was married to Katie Shultz, born in Virginia, a daughter of William and Mary Shultz, and they had one son, William, who died in infancy. Mrs. Warner died in September, 1875. On January 6, 1878, Mr. Warner was married (second) to Louie Connor, born at South Bloomfield, Ohio, a daughter of Abner and Rachel (Motherspaw) Connor, natives of Virginia and Ohio, respectively. Mr. and Mrs. Warner became the parents of the following children: Ollie, who is Mrs. James Miner, of Goose Creek Township; Edward, who is a resident of Goose Creek Township; Luella, who is Mrs. Benjamin Cole, of Goose Creek Township; and Lena, who is at home. Until he was injured, Mr. Warner had had no educational advantages, but then attended the schools of Goose Creek Township for three winters, and made the best of his opportunities. He was a Democrat and satisfactorily held a number of township offices. Fraternally he belonged to the Odd Fellows. A man of unflinching integrity, and tireless energy, he persevered and forged his way to the front, not allowing his accident to hamper or discourage him in any way, and his success was all the more to his credit because of the fact that for many years he suffered from a disability that might have deterred others from making further effort.

WATTS, Charles, who was born March 25, 1835, in Vermont, died at Monticello February 4, 1875. He came to Monticello about 1855, and became one of the most successful of Piatt County's lawyers. In 1858 he was married to Lodosky Spencer, and their four children who lived to maturity were as follows: Willie E., Charles P., Lena M. and Harry S.

WEBB, Richard, was born in Kentucky in 1799 and came to Piatt County in 1833, a portion of the farm he entered being over the county line. During his later years he resided at Farmer City. In 1828 he was married to Hettie E. Watson, and they had a large family. After the death of his first wife, Mr. Webb was married (second) to Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, and they had four children.
